Introduction

Kerry Beck – Sales Director, Encore Unlimited, LLC

8:35 – 9:25

Great Minds Think Alike, Or Do They?

Calvin Langmade, Psy.D. – ExamWorks, Inc.

Attorney Daniel M. Pedriana – Lindner & Marsack, S.C.

Allison Hanson, MBA - Vice President of Sales & Marketing Central, ExamWorks, Inc.

Psych claims have become more prevalent in worker's compensation cases in the past few years. Our esteemed panel will explore the varying responses claimants have to mental/mental, mental/physical, and physical/mental claims, and the complicated legal matters associated with them.

9:25 – 10:15

Getting Injured Employees Back to Work After an Injury

Mary O'Connor Drout, PhD, CRC – CEO of Encore Unlimited, LLC

Gwen Deckow-Schaefer, MS, OTR/L – Ergonomic Consultant, Encore Unlimited, LLC

Attorney Chelsie D. Springstead – Lindner & Marsack, S.C.

Angie Kolb – Worker's Compensation Claims Manager, Aegis Corporation

If every employer was able to return their employees to work after an injury, there wouldn't be lawsuits. Stop reacting, stop procrastinating – regardless of your role in the work comp process, get in the driver's seat and proactively navigate the new return to work landscape. This panel will address how NEW spins on classics such as transitional return to work, job analysis, and vocational services are being used to successfully get employees back to work.
